Tax: Gross Income Tax

P.L. 2023, c. 96, which was signed into law on July 3, 2023, made a series of technical corrections, clarifications, and changes to the Corporation Business Tax Act (CBT), Gross Income Tax Act (GIT), and other miscellaneous requirements. This bulletin discusses the requirement for Gross Income Tax taxpayers (i.e., sole proprietors, partners, and S corporation shareholders) to follow the same sourcing rules required for Corporation Business Tax purposes for the receipts of business income.

Sourcing Rules Prior to January 1, 2023

Prior to January 1, 2023, the Gross Income Tax apportionment sourcing rules for receipts from business income for sole proprietorships and partnerships was based on a three-factor formula of property, payroll, and receipts, following a cost of performance method. S corporations have always followed the Corporation Business Tax sourcing rules, which currently use the single sales factor method and market based sourcing method.

Sourcing Rules Beginning on or After January 1, 2023

On or after January 1, 2023, as required by Section 13 of P.L. 2023, c. 96, the Gross Income Tax apportionment sourcing rules for receipts from business income follow the same apportionment sourcing rules required for Corporation Business Tax purposes. This means business receipts are sourced using the single sales factor method and market based sourcing method. P.L. 2023, c. 96, only prescribes uniform sourcing and does not extend to deductions and exemptions that are allowed under the Corporation Business Tax Act. Allowable deductions and exemptions are prescribed in the Gross Income Tax Act in accordance with N.J.S.A. 54A:3, et seq. For business income amounts that are excluded from income for Gross Income Tax purposes, the receipts attributable to the excluded amounts of income are excluded from the allocation factor.

Taxpayers Subject to the Sourcing Rules Beginning on or After January 1, 2023

The new sourcing rules apply to all taxpayers subject to the Gross Income Tax Act that engage in a trade or business, such as a sole proprietor, a partner in a partnership, or shareholder of an S corporation that conducts business operations partly within and partly without this State. The single sales factor is the default method for sourcing and must generally be used. However, if the taxpayer believes that this method does not result in an equitable allocation, the taxpayer may apply in writing to the Division as discussed in "A Different Method of Allocation (Section 8 Relief)" below.

Service Receipts and Special Industry Sourcing Rules

Service receipts are sourced based on where the benefit of the service is received, which is commonly referred to as market-based sourcing. However, these rules also contain special rules that apply for certain special industries (such as asset management, advertising, and transportation services). See N.J.S.A. 54:10A-6 and N.J.A.C. 18:7-8.10A for details on how taxpayers engaged in the business of those special industries report their receipts.

Sourcing Rules for Receipts Other than from Business Income

Income representative of the taxpayer's salary, wages, tips, fees, commissions, bonuses, and other remuneration continues to be sourced according to the other applicable provisions of the Gross Income Tax Act. This income is not sourced following the Corporation Business Tax sourcing rules. A taxpayer that is a partner in a partnership or a shareholder in an S corporation, who receives salary, wages, tips, fees, commissions, bonuses, and other remuneration, must source such items according to the provisions of the Gross Income Tax Act.

Guaranteed payments to a partner from a partnership are considered payments of the partner's share of business profits, not compensation. Therefore, guaranteed payments are sourced following the Corporation Business Tax Act sourcing rules.

A Different Method of Allocation (Section 8 Relief)

The taxpayer can request a different allocation method if the taxpayer believes the single sales factor allocation as applied is inequitable. This is referred to as Section 8 relief in N.J.S.A. 54:10A-8. A sole proprietor or partner must submit their request in writing and set forth the basis of the request, the reason(s) why the New Jersey Business Allocation Schedule does not provide an equitable allocation, and the substitute method of allocation requested to be used. Such request must be mailed to the New Jersey Division of Taxation, Gross Income Tax Audit Branch, PO Box 288, Trenton, NJ 08695-0288, attention: Chief. Taxpayers can refer to N.J.A.C. 18:7-8.3 and N.J.A.C. 18:7-10.1 for more information. Note: An S corporation will continue to follow the same Corporation Business Tax procedures for Section 8 relief requests as provided under N.J.S.A. 54:10A-8 and following the procedures set-forth in N.J.A.C. 18:7-10.1.

Nexus

Taxpayers that were rendering services to New Jersey customers prior to the statutory amendments already had nexus with New Jersey. Thus, it is unlikely that the statutory amendments that changed to a single sales factor-market based sourcing rules will result in additional taxpayers having nexus for Gross Income Tax purposes.

Other Corporation Business Tax Concepts Incorporated

The Corporation Business Tax rule, N.J.A.C. 18:7-8.12(e), for determining whether a receipt is integrated in the business and associated case law is applicable for Gross Income Tax purposes. The rules for determining whether the business income is operational income (and allocated) or nonoperational income (and specifically assigned) apply for Gross Income Tax purposes for tax years beginning on and after January 1, 2023. See N.J.S.A. 54:10A-6.1 and N.J.A.C. 18:7-8.17 for more information.

Operational income is defined by N.J.S.A. 54:10A-6.1 as: "income from tangible and intangible property if the acquisition, management, or disposition of the property constitutes an integral part of the taxpayer's regular trade or business operations and includes investment income serving an operational function." (Emphasis added.)

For the most part, most items of income are operational in nature. Note: In general, rental income is considered operational income and is allocated.

When claiming that an item of income is nonoperational, a taxpayer must clearly demonstrate to the Division's satisfaction that the item is classified as nonoperational income. Nonoperational income is not subject to allocation, but is specifically assigned.

The unitary business principle for determining whether an income item is allocated (if unitary) or specifically assigned to the domicile of a taxpayer (if nonunitary) applies. See N.J.S.A. 54:10A-6.1, N.J.A.C. 18:7-8.17, and N.J.A.C. 18:7-21.2 for more information.

If an out-of-state business pays income to a resident individual, it is considered an item of income sourced to the individual's state of domicile.

Tiered Partnerships

A tiered partnership in which the lower-tiered partnership is unitary with the upper-tiered partnership (as outlined in N.J.A.C. 18:7-21.2) must use the flow-through method of accounting and sourcing for unitary partnerships as described in N.J.A.C. 18:7-7.6. For a unitary relationship to exist, there must be common ownership between the entities whereby the ownership in the entities, directly or indirectly, is more than a 50% ownership interest. A tiered partnership that is a nonunitary business uses the separate method of accounting and sourcing for nonunitary partnerships as described in N.J.A.C. 18:7-7.6.

Pass-Through Business Alternative Income Tax (BAIT)

The new uniform sourcing rules also apply to the Pass-Through Business Alternative Income Tax (BAIT). A group of pass-through entities under common control which elect to pay the BAIT and to file a consolidated PTE-100, may follow the sourcing methods for a combined group set forth in N.J.A.C. 18:7-21.1 through 21.29, although they are not required to do so.

Penalty and Interest Relief for the 2023 Tax Year

For tax year 2023, taxpayers will not be assessed any penalties or interest on the underpayment of tax resulting from the provisions of P.L. 2023, c.96, that may have generated an additional tax liability. No interest will be assessed for not making sufficient installment payment of estimated tax. However, in order to qualify for this relief, all additional estimated tax payments must be made by the due date of the return of April 15, 2024.

Voluntary Disclosure Program

Individual and business taxpayers who discover they have business activities that create nexus for New Jersey tax purposes are encouraged to voluntarily register and bring their accounts into compliance by disclosing past tax liabilities. Information about the State's Voluntary Disclosure Program is available on the Division's website.
